

Brett D. Flora, 71 of Stanley, died Monday, February 5, 2024 at Turner Integrity Care-Thorp of natural causes. He was born on June 12, 1952 to the late Clayton and Laurel (Bivans) Flora. When Brett was about 6½ years old he had a stroke and had to re-learn everything basically starting from scratch. He attended McDonough School for the Handicapped in Eau Claire through 7th grade and then was able to finish up schooling in Thorp following that with 2 years at River Falls for college.

Brett spent a lot of time with his grandparents, Loran & Muriel Bivans, helping out on the farm by driving tractor, haying, filling silo, threshing and other things as needed until he got his full-time job.

He worked for nearly 30 years at the Blue Moon Cheese Factory in Thorp and then for Saputo Cheese in Almena, WI until his retirement.

Brett loved cars and was able to identify what make/model was driving toward him on the road. He especially enjoyed the muscle cars of the 50's through the early 70's. Brett also had a deep interest in guns, and would sometimes just show up at a friend's house asking if they wanted to go shooting.

He enjoyed traveling, sometimes with friends and sometimes to visit friends and enjoyed their surprise when he just showed up with no warning.

He is survived by his brother, Kent (Theresa) Flora of Medford and his sister, Michelle (Loyed Arnold) Flora of Stanley and his nephews Jason (Anna) Flora and Justin (Liz) Flora along with 4 great nieces and nephews with another on the way.

A memorial service officiated by Rev. Loyed Arnold will be held on Saturday, February 10, 2024 at Grace Community Bible Church-Stanley. Visitation will begin at 10:30 a.m. with the service at 11:30 a.m. followed by a lunch. Burial will take place at a later date.
